

ASID is proud to announce an annual Interior Design Educator Competition to recognize interior design excellence in both residential and commercial design projects completed by educators in a peer reviewed and juried national design competition. ASID recognizes the significant contribution of educators in interior design and this competition will recognize interior design work at a national level including those in individuals in the tenure and promotion process who need venues to have their work reviewed. Submissions will be reviewed by a jury of distinguished ASID members invited by ASID Headquarters to participate in the ASID Design Excellence Educator Juried Review

This competition is open exclusively to ASID educator members and must have at least a 50% teaching appointment in the U.S. when work is completed. Three commercial projects and three residential projects will be awarded for this year's competition. Winners will be announced at the annual IDEC conference and will be published in ASID ICON Magazine. The deadline for entries is November 1, 2010.

<http://www.asid.org/awards/ASID+Educator+Design+Excellence+Competition.htm>

If you are not an ASID member the educator rate for ASID Allied Educator and Professional Educator is $265.00 a year. This reduces to $115.00 a year if the person is also the student chapter faculty advisor.

Here is a link for information on joining ASID:
<http://www.asid.org/members/edmem/>

Also to the educator resources section of asid.org:
<http://www.asid.org/education/educators/>